

Million team Self-reflection

Sayed Zulfikar

Time: 28/09/2019 (Week8)

Role(s): User Experience Designer

1. What have I done since the last time reported?

Our team has changed our initial strategy. Instead of developing one function for all menu at a time, we decided to develop all CRUD (Create, Read, Update, Delete) functions for a single menu first. This week, I have developed the user interface for the degree menu with all CRUD functions of it.

2. Self-reflection?

I thought this course is about managing your time to 10 hours per week and get the most of it. So, all this time I have been restricting my time to 10 hours per week for this course. But it turns out to be completely wrong. The tutor and shadow team has confirmed that 10 hours per week is the bare minimum to pass this course, in order to get more mark, you need to invest your time more. Given this fact, I realised that this course is really demanding and restricting your time to 10 hours per week, especially when you are bound with technical skill, is a big joke.

3. What is the planned until next time report?

I will continue to develop the user interface for all the features and invest more time in this course to get a better result.
