1. What have I done since the last time report?

I did some research in Django database and the settings. I read through the project structure again, then I migrated the static file into database table for “study option” and inserted the data.

2. Self-reflection

I have spent more than 10 hours this week although I had a midterm exam. I was keen to solve the problems and bugs. The result turns out that I managed to finish my task, it took some time though.

3. What is the plan until next report?

Planning to solve a bug in migrating the static file into database table, which is related to “degree requirement”, the same operation did not work for this migration, trying to find out why and looking for a solution.
